Increased ROI on Projects

There is no magic to increasing ROI, NPV, EVA or any other financial measure of project success. What is lacking is a methodology to choose the right projects based on their financial benefits and alignment with business objectives. Portfolio Intelligence provides the methods to assess project benefits and alignment without requiring an MBA. Portfolio Intelligence also provides focus for measuring business success and communicating it to all stakeholders.

Reduced Spending

Portfolio Intelligence provides the information and analysis to help you get more from your resources. Whether you primarily use internal or external resources, getting the most from them can produce hundreds of thousands of dollars in benefits to your organization. The decision support capabilities allow you to make faster decisions and reduce the costs of delays in your process. In addition, Portfolio Intelligence provides a single location for project information allowing you to eliminate redundant activities and tools.

Decreased Risk of Project Failures

Why do projects fail? This topic has generated much discussion. Portfolio Intelligence helps organizations decrease project failures by giving them visibility to all stakeholders. Portfolio Intelligence helps you focus on the key milestones that keep a project on time and in budget. Portfolio Intelligence also provides decision support tools to help you anticipate issues and obstacles before they occur.

Low Cost Solution

Portfolio Intelligence is delivered as a highly secure, Web-based service allowing you to have access when you need it, from any location. One low monthly fee pays for all product licensing, hosting, training, customer support and on-going product enhancements. With this model, you pay only for what you use, when you use it. Product and system upgrades happen automatically at no additional cost or resource requirement from our customers.
